Forensic Team Places Third

Closing the season on a winning note, Cal State Forensics took 3rd place among four year schools at the Pacific South Coast Forensics Associations cooldown tournament. Competing among 28 schools from the region, San Bernardino finished with 22 points—just behind the University of Las Vegas (with 24 points).

Karen Eilers led Cal State to victory with wins in Extemporaneous speaking, and Impromptu speaking, while the Todd Turoci/Eilers debate team finished 3rd with a 3-1 record. The Steve Kemp/Greg Scott debate team finished second among the 18 debate teams.

In extemporaneous speaking, where the speaker is given a half hour to prepare a speech on current events, Eilers trophied with the topic, "Ronald Reagan: What's next in Nicaragua?" Eilers received a first place ballot.

Eilers also trophied in impromptu, where you are allowed two minutes to prepare a five minute speech. Out of 64 speakers, Eilers finished second. Turoci just missed breaking into impromptu finals, but was consistently rated excellent.

In debate, the Kemp/Scott team entered the final round with a 4-0 record, but dropped the finals to the University of Las Vegas.

At the Long Beach state tournament Cal State brought a smaller contingent of two speakers. Darcel Jameson, and Robin Ocepek represented San Bernardino at the 49ers competition. Jameson received a 1st superior in Storytelling, while Ocepek earned a 4th excellent. They competed among 29 other speakers.

Anti-Apartheid Rally And Sit-In

There will be an Anti-Apartheid rally and sit-in held at the University of California, Riverside, on Wednesday, May 15, 1985 at 12:45 p.m. to Thursday, May 16, 1985 at noon.

The rally is to begin at 12:45 p.m. on Wednesday at the Bell Tower, UCR. A march will follow from the Tower to the Administration building where a sit-in will take place.

This rally and sit-in is being organized in conjunction with others on most UC campuses on this day to correspond with a Regents meeting to take place on Thursday, May 16, at which the issue of UC divestment will be discussed.

Student demands include:

full divestment of UC funds from the economy of South Africa, and a change in the scheduled meeting of all UC Chancellors from June up to May so that students can be present and express their concerns.

Students will meet with the UCR Chancellor on Thursday morning (time still pending), to present him with letters of support for divestment, and to demand a change in scheduling of the Chancellor's meeting.

The rally and sit-in are being sponsored by UC—USA, the University Community United to Stop Apartheid, the Associated Students UCR, and the Graduate Student Association (GSA).

International Students

by John Claud

Twelve CSUSB students have been given the honor of being accepted into the International "study abroad" program, which is the highest number of applicants since its beginnings in 1969.

According to Dr. Mureille Rydell, professor of French and director of the International Program (IP) she said "in 1969 CSUSB had only one student accepted to the IP."

"The acceptance rate this year is not only the highest in CSUSB history, but it is the highest acceptance ratio throughout the entire CSU system," Mrs. Rydell said.

"You cannot imagine how happy I am to help students work on filling out forms, writing a letter of intent and appear before the acceptance committee," Mrs. Rydell said. "When students are accepted I feel elated in helping them expand their horizons. It makes all the work worth while."

The following is the list of the CSUSB students who have been accepted, along

Library Book Amnesty

Imagine cleaning out your closet and discovering a library book which was due back in 1980? or, finding a phonograph record mixed among your own collection of Frank Sinatra and Glenn Miller that was due back in November of 1984? Unfortunately, library materials do occasionally get misplaced. The San Bernardino Public Library is offering an opportunity for its patrons to return their overdue items "fine free" throughout the month of May, and thereby re-establish their good standing with the library.

For further information regarding the return of overdue materials, please call the Circulation Department of the Central Library at 383-5277, or contact any of the branch library locations.

Resume Workshop

"Hey, It's Good for the Resume: A Workshop On Transferring Campus Involvement to the Job Market" will be offered Wednesday, May 22, from noon to 1p.m. in the Student Union Rooms A & B. Highly recommended for club members and student government leaders, the workshop will focus on making experience as an involved student work to the advantage of the job seeker. Sponsored by the Activities Office and the Career Planning & Placement Office, the workshop will teach students how to identify the career-related skills they've acquired as campus leaders, and how to transfer these skills to the resume and approach them in the job interviews. All students are encouraged to attend. For further information, contact Clare Sharafinski, Activities Advisor, x7407

Youth Exchange Looking For Host Families

The Youth Exchange Service (YES) is currently working on its new arrival of young exchange students aged 15 to 18 years old, who will be arriving in August and will attend school and live in the U.S. for a 9 month period. There are still many students waiting for a good family to host them yet, we cannot provide for all of the applicants because of the shortage of host families. However, we hope many good American host Families all over the U.S.A. will open their hearts and homes to one of these delightful and charming boys and girls from around the world. All students are carefully selected and have excellent medical insurance. The host family provides only room and board and may also claim a $50 tax deduction for each month they host a student. For further information contact: Youth Exchange Service (YES), World Trade Center Bldg., 250 Figueroa Street, 257-P, Los Angeles, CA, 90071 or call: 1-800-533-0656.

Fun With Mathematics

Since many students are intimidated by the mere mention of the word "mathematics," the Learning Assistance Services is presenting a seminar on how to have "Fun With Numbers". Larry Stevenson, lecturer in Mathematics, will conduct the workshop.

Mr. Stevenson began his college career as a French major. He also has had long interest in mathematics and after receiving a secondary credential from CSUSB in 1978, he taught French and Math for several years at Beaumont High School.

A recreational mathematics hobbyist for about twenty years, he will share some of his favorite puzzles and demonstrate a variety of ways in which Math can be challenging yet non-threatening. SAVE THIS DATE: Wednesday, May 29, 1985 see you at 12:00 noon in the SUMP. Bring a pencil and paper. Don't fret! You won't have to share your answers. For further information, see Rosemary Binney in the Learning Center, PL 3/ or call ex. 7612.

Coyote Car Rallye

Turn left at the Student Union, and get ready for a good time at the Alpha Kappa Psi Road Rallye, Saturday, May 25th, AKP will host a car tour around the Inland Empire.

First of all, let's clear the air about what a rallye is, and what it isn't. It isn't a frenzied race from start to finish with the goal being the fastest time. It is a controlled, enjoyable drive that tests the problem solving and navigational skills of the driver and his passenger. The team that completes the course in a time that most closely approximates the judges time will win the event.

At the registration the driver and navigator will be given a not-so-clear set of rules that must be followed to the letter. In this rallye, all participants will be given a 6-7 page set of clues and instructions 15 minutes before they start. The starts will be at about one minute intervals. The set of instructions give the driving team clues to their destination. For example, "turn right at the symbol of the type of movies John Wayne used to make" means turn right at the Great Western Savings building.

The judges will drive the course, at the accepted speed limits, and use their time to establish the winner of the event.

It is easy to see why any team with a quick mind could beat a team with a quick car. It is skill, perserverance, and good sense of humor that will aid in victory at this car rallye. Aside from the established first prize, there will be prizes for second and third place contestants. Additionally, in keeping with the spirit of the Coyote theme AKP will be giving a prize for the ugliest, most rundown, delapidated, sorriest excuse for an automobile that barely creeps across the finish line.

Presale tickets, along with information, will be available from the members of AKP as well as in front of the library between 10-2 p.m. May 20-23rd. A meager $10 per automobile will be charged if paid in advance, $12 will be charged that morning. So grab a friend, break out the ole family cruise machine and come on down to Alpha Kappa Psi's Memorial Day Weekend Coyote Car Rallye. Registration begins at 9 a.m., the participants meeting starts at 9:30. Last one there is a Coyote.

Chicken Pox

We have been asked if it is possible for adults to get chicken pox, and if they do, are they more likely to suffer serious complications.

Yes, it is possible for adults to get chicken pox—just ask some of your college friends who have had it. We in the Health Center see two or three cases a year. However, it is uncommon since most of us have had chicken pox as a child or at least were exposed to it then.

Chicken pox is widely disseminated among young people; most individuals get the disease before the ages of 9 or 10. However, some escape childhood chicken pox and therefore are susceptible as adults. As we know, there are outbreaks among such adults.

It has long been rumored that adults are more likely to develop the complications of chicken pox—pneumonia and brain infection—than children. There is no data to substantiate this claim.

Researchers are working on attenuating the virus so that a vaccine can be made. As of now no prophylactic vaccine is available.

Spring Barbecue

Sunday, June 2, has been set for the All Campus Spring Barbecue. This event, hosted by the Student Life Office and Housing Office, marks the revival of a popular tradition started at Cal State in the 70's which was attended by students, faculty, staff, alumni and their families.

This year Doyle Stansel, Associate Dean of Students, and the other chefs, Jim Charkins, Richard Moss, Ed Schneiderhan, Quentin Moses and others will be cooking on a 12 foot barbecue grill. Ten-ounce New York steaks along with a complete barbecue dinner will be served in the picnic area behind the Student Services Building beginning at 5:00 pm. Tickets are on sale at the Student Union desk for $5.00. Children's tickets are $1.00 for hamburgers and hot dogs (all you can eat). According to Dean Stansel, ticket prices were kept low to cover just the cost of the meal and the program.

Live entertainment will be provided by "Mojave Green," a country-western group which features Cal State's own Howard Dolan. "Mojave Green" has performed in California and Texas and recently issued its first record.

The CSUSB Alumni Association will have its famous beer garden in full operation during the event. Volleyball games are being planned as part of the program.

Advance ticket sales are very important, says Stansel, because the barbecue is entirely self-supporting.

Forensic /from pg. 1

Overall, Coach Jay Danel, considers the showing Cal State made in its first year of debate as very impressive. "I am looking forward to next year." He also added that there will be one more chance for people to see Cal State debate this year.

Scheduled in the next couple of weeks will be an exhibition match pitting San Bernardino State against Cal State Fullerton. The debate will take place on the San Bernardino campus. They will debate over whether the U.S. is justified in providing military aid to non-democratic nations.

Anyone interested in learning more about Forensics is encouraged to contact either Jay Danel or Dr. Fred Jandt, in the communications department.

Art Collection
Donated To CSUSB

by Jay Ross

Close your eyes and say the word "art". What do you think of? Picasso? Rembrandt? Starving painters in Paris? Okay, now open your eyes and look around. What do you see? The chances are pretty good that somewhere close by you will see a book. Did you know that books are a form of art? What makes them art? you might ask. Well, any number of things; their age, the author, limited edition, color prints inside and binding, just to name a few.

Recently Cal State San Bernardino was the recipient of a valuable collection of this form of art. Charles Salzman, owner of Canterbury books of Los Angeles, donated a special collection of unusual books to the Cal State Library in memory of his late wife Ester Lewittes Salzman. The collection includes a limited edition of Walt Whitman's "Leaves of Grass", a slim volume of the Book of Job, and an original leaf from a 1611 version of the King James Bible contained in a volume of essays by John Livingston and Louis I Newman.

Library Director, Arthur Nelson, says the "95 books are a representative collection of fine printing and design from the 19th century to the present." The collection is valued in excess of $20,000, but like all great works of art the monetary value is unimportant. Some of the books will soon be on display in the library's special collections section. Unfortunately there is no special collections room in the library where book lovers like myself can sit and bask in the presence of our favorite form of art. Mr. Nelson hopes that someday we will have a special collections room but it's not in the foreseeable future. The outlook is not all bleak, the next time you are thumbing through the card catalogue and you happen to come across a card that is marked "Restricted" or "Reference restricted" write down the call numbers and ask the librarian to bring the book to you. While she (or he) chaperons you, you can read and admire a work of art.

Special Olympics: "Everyone Went Home A Winner"

The cool morning air and the smell of freshly cut grass combined with bright moving colors and sounds of marching bands to fill the senses of eager sports fans. Tension was building as the athletes made their way around the stadium for the opening ceremonies. As blue and yellow balloons were set free to create swirling designs in the sky and the famed torch was lit, the official opening was announced for the 1985 San Bernardino-Redlands Special Olympics.

A number of CSUSB

students took part in the festivities at this year's Special Olympics on Saturday, May 11. The Delta Sigma Phi fraternity turned out in full force, along with members of Alpha Kappa Psi and other Cal State students. These individuals volunteered their time to fill a wide array of positions, from security official to huggers. The spectacular day of sports proved to be truly enjoyable and rewarding for all those who volunteered and competed.

If enthusiasm was any guide to team capability, then the athletes of every school were destined to go home champions, and they did. Each event was filled with excitement. The most spectacular and inspiring events, however, appeared to take place on the track, for the 50-meter and 100-meter dashes. It was here that the exhilaration of head-to-head competition could be felt. One young man from Tri City school, William, donned a bandana which heralded the colors of the American flag. At the sound of the gun he exploded from the starting line and became a blur of white and blue as he blazed across the finish and sustained his awesome pace for another 50 meters; he appeared not of this world, but rather he easily could have been a distant relative of the Greek god Hermes: many spectators swore they witnessed small wings sprout from William's heels.

Three other gentlemen who made a lasting impression upon the crowd were Orwin, Chris and Ben from City of Hope. These athletes, while fierce competitors at the starting line, were true sportsmen in every sense of the word as they each took their perspective positions on the awards stand. These gentlemen expressed the essence of what the Special Olympics are supposed to be, and were on May 11. The San Bernardino-Redlands Special Olympics became a day that the men of Delta Sigma Phi, Alpha Kappa Psi, and all those who volunteered, will not soon forget. Everyone went home a winner. Here's looking to you Orwin, Chris and Ben, and to next year's games.

Don't Be A Meek Greek!

Help Our Frat Succeed!

by Carl Morgan

When our founding fathers established this great country they built it on the true foundation of freedom and equality. The aim of these exceptional men was to institute something revolutionary. Their goal was to establish a working and successful democratic republic. Our founding fathers relied on faith and determination to give birth to a new form of government. The confederation of Delta Sigma Phi men are relying on these same virtues to break free from the title of colony enroute to achieving full charter-status.

The founding brothers of Delta Sigma Phi at CSUSB have made it their goal to initiate something revolutionary: to successfully establish the first national social fraternity on campus.

In order for the Delta Sigma Phi colony to attain charter-status, however, a few requirements must be fulfilled. One such requirement is that of locating a faculty advisor. DSP is in search of any interested faculty member to fill this position. The faculty advisor need only attend at least two fraternity meetings per month and assist in some DSP planning. The faculty member who is appointed to this position will be the first advisor of the first national social fraternity at Cal State, and a membership may be granted to this advisor after six months of service. No prior fraternity experience is necessary, simply a desire to see Delta Sigma Phi succeed and become a positive force on campus. If you are a faculty member who is interested in the position of DSP advisor, or if you would like to recommend any Cal State faculty, members, please contact Bill Gropp (Joshua Dorm, 222), or Paul Feller at 887-7422 (Waterman 131). Although DSP is not the first national fraternity on campus, Alpha Kappa Psi has that distinguished honor, Delta Sigma Phi is well on its way to attaining full charter-status as CSUSB's first national social fraternity. For all men considering becoming DSP members, there still remains room for ambitious individuals, so let yourselves be known by Delta Sigma Phi.

Also, DSP would like to express its appreciation to all those who purchased items and asked questions at the Delta Sigma Phi bakesale on May 8. Thanks to your support the DSP bakesale was a success.

Scholarship Grant

A scholarship award of $5,000, which will assist five business students next year, was presented to Cal State, San Bernardino by the Western Association of Food Chains.

This is the third year the organization, which is composed of the leading food chains in 14 western states, has supported the university's business program, according to Jack H. Brown, president of Stater Brothers Markets, in delivering the check to University President Anthony H. Evans.

Brown, secretary of the association, said the award is to be used for five $1,000

THE CLUB PAGE

Committees Need Student Reps

There are a number of committees on our campus that have various names and responsibilities. Student consultation and participation in the governance of CSUSB must happen through these committees. These committees implement CSU system-wide policy, and make it relevant to the CSUSB community. As a student, YOU are the constituency they serve. YOU should inform yourself of the opportunities to effect policy change and implementation on your campus. You may learn as much here from your experiences outside the classroom as in. Now is the time to investigate these educational opportunities for the 1985/86 school year.

There are presently six Faculty Senate committees, 11 campus-wide, and 8 Associated Students committees which have student representation. Students sit on these committees either by virtue of holding another office, by appointment, or through an application process. Through a position as a committee representative, you will:

- Acquire knowledge of CSUSB and the group it serves
- Get to know the faculty and administrators who make important policy decisions
- Meet other student leaders like yourself who can learn from you, and help you to grow

- Make your mark in campus governance
  - Create a positive image for yourself in the eyes of future employees
  - Learn interpersonal, public speaking, and presentation skills
  - Grow confident as a student who is learning the issues and taking a stand
  - Gain experience working closely with people who have different value systems
  - Practice leadership skills needed in the working world
  - Benefit in other ways unique to your committee appointment
- Applications for all committees are easy to complete and are available at several locations:

Faculty Senate Committees: Faculty Senate Office, BI 21; Student Union front desk; A.S. Office, Student Union; Activities Office, SS 122

Campus-Wide Committees: Student Union front desk; A.S. Office, Student Union; Activities Office, SS 122

Associated Students Committees: A.S. Office only
General information about all committees can be obtained by contacting Clare Sharafinski, Activities Advisor, in SS 122, or call 887-7407.

Chains is to raise funds for scholarships, Brown explained. The bulk of its money is used to sponsor the food marketing program at the University of Southern California.

"Most of us here worked our way through college," Brown said the brief ceremony at the University, "and so I have a special satisfaction to see bright young students for whom the $1,000 can help make the way through college easier."

Members of the association with retail operations in the Inland Empire are: Albertson's, Gerrard's, La Sierra College Market, Loma Linda Campus Market, Lucky Stores, Ralphs Grocery Co., Safeway Stores, Stater Brothers Markets, Von's Grocery Co., and two wholesalers, Alfred M. Lewis, Inc., and Certified Grocers of California.

The University will soon be accepting applications for the five scholarships to be awarded for 1985-86. Application forms will be available from the School of Business and Public Administration or the member food chains in the area.

scholarships to full- or part-time students majoring in business administration. Preference should be given to eligible students who are employees of member companies.

The award is the third and largest given to the university by the grocers. The total contributions by the Association is now $13,000.

President Evans termed the award a significant contribution to the scholarship fund, because of its size and the on-going support.

“It’s Miller Time”

by Greg Timpany

Next to studying, drinking beer is one of a college students favorite activities. On May 8, members of the Cal State Marketing received the inside scoop on the beer industry from Linda Mitchell. Mrs. Mitchell is a graduate from Cal State, and is the current marketing manager for Gate City Beverage Distributors.

Gate City is the distributor for Miller Beer, Country Cooler wine coolers, and many imported beers to the Inland Empire. Ninety percent of Gate City's product line is Miller products. As a distributor, Gate City's purpose is to get the beer and other products out to stores in the San Bernardino-Riverside area.

Ms. Mitchell's responsibility as marketing manager is to get the public to buy Miller beer over other products. "It is difficult to portray an appealing image for a product that is essentially the same as its competitors. The differences between Miller and Budweiser are so small that it is how the product is marketed that makes the difference."

The industry is highly regulated. Many federal, state and local agencies have a hand in running Gate City's business. According to Ms. Mitchell, "My hands are tied as to what I can do to promote the product."

Recent attempts have been made at banning beer and wine advertisements from television. "The advertisements do not portray people who are drunk, nor do they use people who are under 25."

Ms. Mitchell said. She expects the battle to come to a head within a year.

Faced with a declining market, flat sales, and the threat of losing television advertising, Linda Mitchell has had to rely on special promotions. She is sponsoring 10K runs, motorcycle

AFRICAN RELIEF: More Is Needed

by Greg Timpany

A wave of concern for Africa has swept the United States. It can be seen on all levels of society. Student groups at Cal State have joined the movement. Will it be enough to end the current famine problems, probably not.

The current drought plaguing Africa is in its twelfth year. In fact, headlines in magazines and newspapers that were used ten years ago could be used again. Despite the outpouring of food and money from the West, Africa is not much better off now than it was ten years ago.

Aid from Western countries will not solve the problem. The keys to the problem lay in the form of economic, technological, and social change. The West can assist in the process of change, but the desire and drive must come from the African people.

Current government policies combined with the effects of the drought are helping to increase the size of the Sahara Desert. According to Professor James Kamusikiri, of Cal Poly Pomona, "the Sahara Desert has continued to expand its girth at the rate of several miles per month. If nothing is done to reverse this trend the African continent will be up to 45 percent desert within 20 years." That is up from the current 20 percent.

The first place to begin is realizing that Marxism and modern agriculture do not mix, especially in third-world countries. The collectivized farming practiced by Ethiopia has not provided enough food to meet its peoples demands. African countries, like Somalia, who have adopted a free market stance have seen increases in crop production. If Africa is to survive, in the long-term, it will have to abandon its system of statism.

Changes in technology will be needed. In the past, the U.S. and other countries have poured millions of dollars into agricultural projects. Why did they fail? They failed because they were too complicated for the end users. Projects that are less complicated and that can be repaired by the local villagers are needed.

There is a lack of trained personnel in Africa. The Marshall Plan worked because there was a trained base of people after World War II who could pick up the pieces and carry on. There is no such thing in Africa. More money must be spent on training and education.

Lastly, social changes must be made. These may be the most difficult to accept. Africans no longer have the need for large families. Accepting and practicing the concepts of birth control are vital. This may go against the doctrines of certain religious groups, but exceptions need to be made.

In summary, the relief efforts directed toward Africa are beneficial but only temporary. Public sentiment shift rapidly, and next year aid to Africa may no longer be the "in" thing. Fundamental changes in the economic, political, technological, and social areas must be made soon.

I am a member of the faculty in the Department of Sociology/Anthropology at Cal State Bakersfield, and I am collecting data on the effects of reverse discrimination in the Cal State Universities and Colleges. I wish to hear from all those,
